

Got a great idea to help improve the efficiency and profitability of your beef or sheepmeat enterprise?

Funding grants of up to $20,000 per annum for up to three years are now available to groups of producers who wish to undertake investigations to generate new, or validate existing, R&D knowledge. These grants are specifically aimed at assisting such groups, and the broader industry, in the sustainable and profitable production of red meat through efficient management of the feedbase.
